

DE That's an interesting thing. That old house that they were brought into was just an old stone walls and, uh, there was straw put around the walls b-, uh, to prevent the frost from coming through. Before the turnip was put in. But I do remember my mother picking through these turnips to try to get a, a nice firm, uh, round turnip for what you'd call table use.