

Ethnographic fieldwork in Gaelic-speaking communities

This workshop discusses ethnographic fieldwork carried out in a rural Gaelic-speaking community on the Isle of Lewis and an urban Gaelic community in the City of Glasgow. I provide first hand experience and advice on gaining access to a community, negotiating linguistic and social sensitivities in each area, and the technical challenges of collecting linguistic data from older speakers and teenagers.